The Wolverton Family - New Brunswick Connection

Foreword

Although my grandfather Leonard Wolverton's parents names 'Joseph and Sarah' were engraved on one end of his headstone in the Upper Knoxford, Carleton Co., NB cemetery, nothing further was known regarding our Wolverton ancestors. As a child, I recall my father visiting cemeteries collecting data for a distant cousin in Woodstock, NB. This information was submitted to a genealogist in the US who was researching the Wolverton family. The researcher died before a planned book could be published and a copy of the data did not survive.

After visiting Wolverton, Ontario in 1997, my daughter Lynn decided to contact descendants of the family that founded the town to determine if a connection could be made. Lois E. Darroch, a Wolverton descendant and former resident of Wolverton, Ontario suggested contacting her cousin Harold Wolverton in Vancouver. Hand written documents in his possession connected our family with Joseph Barton Woolverton who had immigrated from New Jersey to New Brunswick following the American Revolution in 1783. Although Harold's charts contained an error in regards to the name of Joseph Barton Woolverton's father, his information provided the key in resolving the Wolverton family New Brunswick connection.

Thanks to input from genealogist James D. "Dan" Hitt of Gillette, Wyoming, the father of Joseph Barton Woolverton was identified as Empire Loyalist Thomas (b 1735) rather than John. Additional information regarding Empire Loyalist Thomas Wolverton and his family was provided by researcher Mary W. Wallace of Rochester, Minnesota. Information obtained from these sources was later compared to David A Macdonald's book 'The Woolverton Family 1693 - 1850 and Beyond' published in July 2001. The long held theory that Joseph Barton Woolverton's lineage was John, Isaac, Charles W. was proven incorrect.

The task of preparing our family tree and placing genealogy reports on a Family Tree Maker home page started as a simple project. Initial input for the data base was taken from 'Family Work Sheets' completed by my sister Christine Davies of Woodstock, NB and cousin Carolyn Beckwith of Wollaston, MA. The project was soon expanded to include all descendants of Empire Loyalist Thomas Woolverton. Numerous people have provided input regarding their family members. Also greatly appreciated, were the complete family trees provided by the following

Genealogy Report of Thomas Woolverton (1735) Ancestors and Descendants

Generation No. 1

1. Charles W¹ Woolverton was born 1660 in Wolverhampton, Staffordshire, England, and died 1746 in Rosemont, Hunterdon Co., NJ. He married Mary Elizabeth Chadwick 1697 in West Jersey. She was born 1674 in Springfield, Burlington, NJ, and died 1751 in Kingwood Township, NJ.

Notes for Charles W Woolverton:

Charles W Woolverton, who immigrated from England to America in 1682, was the progenitor of the Woolverton and Wolverton families in United States and Canada. The family was an old one in England, appearing under various forms of spelling, as for example, Wolfreton, Wolferston, Woolverstone, Woolverton, and Wolverton. Early records of the family are found in books on the history of the Isle of Wight. The oldest spelling appears to be Wolfreton, based on a thirteenth century record indicating that Sir Ralph de Wolfreton contributed two bowmen to defend the island. Other Isle of Wight records indicate that descendents of Sir Ralph changed the spelling to Woolverton.

Another traditional derivation of the name is based on the theory that the family seat, more than a thousand years ago, was near Wolverhampton, and that the family name was connected with the founding of the city. There is also a town in Middle England called Wolverton. A Book of Heraldry in the U of T Library includes two Woolverton coat of arms. One shows three wolf heads with the motto ' Que Sera Sera '. Another shield dating back to Henry III, belonged to a Wolverton family in Wolverton Parish, Buckinghamshire. An eagle is displayed over a belt of fire arms.

During the reign of Charles II of England, there was little religious liberty for Protestants. Many men with strong religious convictions, moved with their families to America. These men were of various religious groups such as Puritans, Independents, Quakers and Churchmen who secured from the Crown, large estates in what is now known as Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Charles Woolverton who was a Quaker, disposed of his property in England and sailed to America.

It is said that Charles Woolverton, with his two brothers Gabriel and John as well as friends George Fox and William Penn, sailed from Dorsetshire England to America in 1682. A more detail account told a century later by a descendent of Charles (Elizabeth Woolverton b. 1774), indicated that they sailed on the ship Welcome and landed at Newcastle, Delaware on November 1, 1682; that Gabriel and John died of small pox; and that they settled on Long Island and relocated to Burlington County, New Jersey in 1689. None of these facts have been verified as the earliest record of Charles W Woolverton in America is a land purchase of 100 acres in Burlington County, NJ from William Biddle dated 20 August, 1693. There are 16 recorded land transfers in New Jersey made by Charles before his death in 1746. With the exception of legal documents, little is known about his life and last days. He wrote a number of religious tracts of which three have survived. There is no documented record of his parents in England. For more information refer to the book ' The Woolverton Family 1693 - 1850 and Beyond ' by David A Macdonald and Nancy N McAdams published July 2001.

Emigration: 1682, From England To America

Occupation: Land owner and Justice of the Peace

Religion: Quaker

Notes for Mary Elizabeth Chadwick:

The identity of Mary's father remains undetermined. Mary was born prior to her mother Elizabeth's three recorded marriages. Her mother married Isaac Leet in 1685, followed by John Chadwick in 1688, and John Dickson at a later date. The name Mary Chadwick is generally accepted as being the wife of Charles as her mother Elizabeth was still married to John Chadwick in 1697 when Mary and Charles were married.

Notes for Mary Woolverton:

The evidence that there was a daughter Mary is circumstantial and thin. A Mary Sherman was appointed administrator of the estate of Thomas Pettit to replace Thomas Woolverton who had resigned. It has been assumed but not proven that Mary was Thomas Woolverton's sister.

Generation No. 3

11. Thomas³ Woolverton (Thomas², Charles W¹) was born 1735 in Rosemont, Hunterdon Co, NJ, and died 11 Sep 1819 in Northampton, Carleton Co., NB. He married (1) Elizabeth Crowell 1757 in NJ. She was born 1740, and died Unknown. He married (2) Catharine Barton Bef. 1777. She was born 1750 in NJ, and died 1840 in Northampton, Carleton Co., NB.

Notes for Thomas Woolverton:

Thomas Woolverton was the son-in-law of Col. Joseph Barton, the most notorious Loyalist of Sussex County. In 1777, Thomas along with the Pettit and Barton families were identified as Tories by the local authorities. He was convicted under a law providing that any person who aided the enemy between April 1775 and October 1776 and did not take an oath of allegiance to the state was subject to conviction for high treason and forfeiture of his property. He spent six months in jail and on April 17, 1780, his confiscated property in Sussex County, NJ was sold at auction. Where the family lived between 1780 and 1783 is not known, but they may have gone to Washington Co. PA to live with his brother John's family until the end of the American Revolution in 1783.

In July 1783 Thomas-3 and his family sailed from NY to Saint John, NB on the ship Lord Townsend. The passengers list shows Thomas with one female (Catharine Barton Woolverton), two children older than 10 (Elizabeth Ann Woolverton, Ann Barton) and three children younger than 10 (Joseph Barton Woolverton, Barent Barton, Charlotte Barton). His two eldest sons from his first marriage, Thomas(22) and Joseph(19) remained with Their Uncle John in PA and never immigrated to Canada.

The Wolverton, Barton and Pettit families settled on farm land in Maugerville, Sunbury Co., NB located a few miles south of Fredericton on the opposite side of the St. John river. Thomas Woolverton's 1789 land grant of 500 acres was located next to the Barton's land grant. In 1796 Thomas was granted 262 acres of land in Northampton, Carleton County., NB. He relocated his family to the new farm in Northampton which is located just south of Woodstock on the opposite side of the Saint John river. Additional grants in the same area were received in 1813 by Thomas and his son Joseph. The land was farmed for many generations by Thomas Wolverton's descendents. Thomas-3 was the progenitor of 'Wolvertons with a NB connection '.

Note from book 'The Wolverton Family 1693 - 1850 and Beyond ':

"Based on St. Luke's Church records in Woodstock, Thomas Wolverton, 76, of the Parish of Northampton, NB, was buried in that parish on 14 September 1819. His age appears to have been recorded in error based on the fact that he signed a legally binding document in 1758 and was the eldest son of Thomas-2. Based on this information he was born in 1735 rather than 1742. No record has been located regarding his wife's birth or Death."

"The only evidence that Thomas-3 had two sons named Joseph is based on the fact that property in PA was registered to a Joseph Wolverton before Joseph Barton Wolverton was of age. No other evidence of his existence has been found."

17. Joseph Barton⁴ Woolverton (Thomas³, Thomas², Charles W¹) was born 1777 in Sussex Co, NJ¹, and died 26 Apr 1843 in Northampton, Carleton Co., NB^{2,3}. He married Jane Larlee 17 Nov 1798 in Northampton, Carleton Co., NB^{4,5}, daughter of John Larlee and Margaret Barker. She was born 1781 in Maugerville, Sunbury Co., NB, and died 15 Aug 1853 in Northampton, Carleton Co., NB.

Notes for Joseph Barton Woolverton:

Joseph Barton Woolverton was 6 years old when his Empire Loyalist father (Thomas-3) immigrated from the US to Maugerville, Sunbury Co., NB in 1783. Joseph's mother (Catharine Barton) and his half sister (Elizabeth Ann) were the only other family members that came with them. Half brothers Thomas and Joseph went to live with their uncle John Woolverton in Washington County, PA and never immigrated to NB. A younger brother (James Barton) was born in Maugerville, NB in 1785 but immigrated to the United States following an altercation (based on family stories) with his father and brother Joseph.

The Woolverton farm in Maugerville was a short distance from the land granted to Dr. John Larlee in 1787. Dr Larlee immigrated from France and was the first white doctor on the Saint John river. Joseph married John Larlee's daughter Jane in 1798 and moved further up the St. John River to his father's farm in Northampton, which had been obtained as a land grant in 1796. Their first child (1 of 11) was born in Northampton in 1799. Additional Northampton land grants were made to Joseph, his father Thomas, John Larlee Sr. and John Larlee Jr. in 1818. Six additional land grants totalling 650 acres were obtained by Joseph

Barton Wolverton and his male descendents during the eighteen hundreds. Joseph's first born son (Thomas Thatcher Woolverton) continued the family trend of settling further up the St. John River by purchasing a farm in River de Chute, Wicklow Parish, in 1832.

Note: There are a number of minor conflicts with data for Joseph Barton Woolverton in the book 'The Woolverton Family 1693-1850 and Beyond' published July 2001. (1) Joseph was born in 1777 in Sussex County NJ - not 1779-1780 in Washington County, PA. Joseph Woolverton's head stone in St. Luke's Cemetery, Lower Woodstock, NB indicates that Joseph was 66 years old when he died on 26 April 1843. Joseph's age at death is also confirmed by Vital Statistics Vol 10 item #917 dated 6 May 1843. The Anglican Church Northampton Parish Register (archives film F1056) indicates Joseph died at age 63. This hand written church document #206 is very clear but a recording error appears to have been made. (2) Joseph and Jane were married Nov 17, 1798 - not Nov 17, 1799. The hand written church record (Archive film F8508 record #3) confirms the 1798 marriage date.

Notes for James Barton Woolverton:

James Barton Woolverton was born in Maugerville, Sunbury Co., NB on 07 February, 1785 and moved with his parents and siblings to Northampton, Carleton Co., NB in 1798. A Woodstock Anglican Church baptismal record dated 3 May, 1802 indicates that he was "18 years of age the 7 of February next". Based on a story told by an uncle and recorded in a letter dated 29 April 1914, James had an altercation with his father and brother Joseph and left home without any further communication. He returned to the USA, where in 1812, he was listed with the NY Militia Volunteers. James may have married twice but there is no record. He married Mary M Lamerson in 1812 and had relocated to Michigan by 1820 where he spent the rest of his life.

The Wolversons - Limestone

County Pioneers

As Told By William Clarence Wolverson (1867-1955)

"My grandfather, Tillman Wolverson, and his wife Aguer (McVickers) were born, reared and married in Illinois. (note by Wm. D. Gorman on July 19, 2000: Her name was Agnes, and both were born in Virginia, they were married and lived for 8 years in Lawrence County, Ohio before moving to Illinois and then to Texas). In 1842 they joined a group of immigrants with ox drawn Prairie Schooner (wagons) and started for the Republic of Texas arriving at Tennessee Colony (Anderson County) in 1843. In early 1844 they traveled to the west bank of Plummer's Creek, one mile west of where Mexia is today. An old sea pirate named John Franks who had been run out of Galveston Island by the U.S. Government had "squatted" on their land, built a dugout and covered it with dry buffalo hides to live in and protect himself from the Tehuacanas, Waco and

Comanche Indians.

Tillman Wolverton traded John Franks two yoke of oxen and a wagon for his dug-out home and his claim on all the land around as far as the eye could see. This land (at that time) was in Robertson County, Republic of Texas in 1844. In 1846, Limestone County was created out of Robertson County. Tillman Wolverton and his family were one of the thirteen families that organized Limestone County.

In the spring of 1846 Tillman built four log houses with dirt floors so the family could move out of the dugout house. In 1848 a log courthouse was built at Springfield (near Navasota River) the first county seat of Limestone County.

Tillman Wolverton started the first stagecoach line to haul United States mail and passengers from Springfield to Washington-On-The-Brazos. The Tehuacana Indians were friendly to white settlers and grandfather would let the men and squaws ride on his stagecoach to help keep the Comanche Indians from stealing the horses or holding up the stagecoach.

Tillman and Aguer (Agnes) had seven children. My father was John Wolverton. When the Civil War started in 1860 he left home to fight and when the war ended in 1865, he was in Homer, Louisiana. It was there that he met and married Mattie L Evans, my mother, in December 1865. They had four children - three girls and myself. I was born July 7, 1867.

Settling in Limestone County stopped during the war years. After 1865 grandfather Tillman hauled pine lumber with ox wagons from (the) Tennessee Colony saw mills to Limestone County to build houses. With the help of his ex-slaves, George Savage and Jack Anderson, it took six weeks to make the round trip using three yoke of oxen to each wagon. (the distance between Tennessee Colony and Mexia was about 60 miles as the crow flies)

In 1870 Groesbeck was the terminal of the H&TC Railroad. The land for Groesbeck was given to the railroads by the Anglins to locate the town. In 1874 the old pine lumber courthouse at Springfield burned along with all the county records. A county election was held to move the county seat from Springfield to Groesbeck, the center of the county and a railroad town between eight and ten thousand people." (Tillman/Tilman died in 1874 at the age of 67).

Notes for Samuel Woolverton:

In 'The Wolverton Family - 1693-1850 and Beyond' (page 597), it is assumed that Samuel born 1837 was the son of Thomas Woolverton and Phoebe Scott based on the 1850 census. The comment that "he seems to have died young , as in a letter dated 4 April 1917, N. Woolverton reported that Mary L. (Worden) Woolverton, --- had named as children of Thomas only Henry, Kitty, Elizabeth", is added as a comment. The fact that James Barton Woolverton age 66 and Samuel Woolverton age 12 were included in the 1850 census of the Thomas household, but not in later census reports, suggests that they were both visitors. The logical conclusion is that there was only one Samuel Woolverton born in 1837. He was the son of James Barton Woolverton as shown in the 1840 and 1850 census and confirmed by a documented interview with Samuel's 89 year old wife Mary L Worden Woolverton (page 246).

Notes for Elizabeth Woolverton:

In the second half of the 19th century an attractive young woman named Elizabeth Woolverton grew up in her parents' home in Northampton, New Brunswick. She was popular with friends of both sexes. Two young men were especially attracted to her. Their names were William Howard Kearney and Henry Augustus Orr. Little is remembered about Mr. Orr's family. Mr. Kearney was a member of a prosperous farming family.

Kearney was Deeply in love with Elizabeth and hoped to marry her. He went to Woodstock and purchased a pretty engagement ring in a velvet-covered box. There was a gathering being held at the Kirk, the community house of worship and Kearney planned to drive Elizabeth to her home following the meeting. On the way he wanted to give her the ring as he proposed marriage.

On that particular evening Kearney was longer than usual in completing his share of the barn chores. He hurriedly harnessed the family driving horse, hooked up the sleigh and travelled toward the Kirk. Arriving there as the meeting was just about over, he waited outside with horse and sleigh in readiness. Imagine his disappointment when Elizabeth appeared arm and arm with Henry Orr. Kearney's disappointment turned to anger and the two young men began to argue. The argument became a fight with both young men rolling in the snow. A knife came into play and soon Orr lay on the ground with his blood staining the snow. Mr. Orr did not survive this encounter. (February 23, 1867)

Kearney left the scene, returning to his parents' home. He was charged with murder. When the trial was held Kearney's lawyer obtained an acquittal (Sept. 26, 1867). Soon young Mr. Kearney left for western Canada or western United States where he remained for many years.

Later Elizabeth Woolverton married John James Rogers of Northampton. The Rogers had 3 sons and 4 daughters. After Mr. Rogers died, Elizabeth married a Mr. Patchell from Whittepitlack, Maine and resided there for 10 or more years. Following Mr. Patchell's death Elizabeth returned to Northampton to live out her remaining years with her son Harry T. Rogers. When Elizabeth died, at a ripe old age, she was buried in the Kirk cemetery. Meanwhile Mr. Kearney had returned to Northampton and he, too, is buried in the Kirk cemetery. It is reported that Henry Orr is buried in the same burial ground.

In the 1930's, Hedley and Cora Slipp purchased the Kearney homestead. One of the stipulations in the bill of sale stated that Mrs. Kearney, the widow of William Kearney's brother was to live with the Slipp family for a stipulated time. Cora Slipp's daughter-in-law told me that Mrs. Kearney had showed her (Cora) a pretty little velvet-covered box containing a lovely ring given to her by her brother-in-law many years before. She told Cora that all the years Kearney had been away, the ring in its velvet box lay buried under a floorboard in the farm woodshed.

(This story was told to Christine Davies(Wolverton) of Woodstock NB on January 20, 2000 by Pauline Forrest based on information given to her by a resident of Northampton many, many years ago.)

Edwin Thatcher⁷ Wolverton (Joseph⁶, Thomas Thatcher⁵ Woolverton, Joseph Barton⁴, Thomas³, Thomas², Charles W¹) was born 04 Feb 1862 in Deer Isle, Hancock Co, ME, and died 24 Nov 1930 in Fruita, CO. He married Wilmont Eldridge Siprell 09 Jun 1887 in Redcliff, CO³⁸. She was born 04 Mar 1862 in Somerville, Carleton Co., NB, and died 19 Dec 1956 in Loma, CO.

Notes for Edwin Thatcher Wolverton:

Edwin left the River de Chute family farm at an early age to work in Colorado mining camps. There is no record of when he left NB or what enticed him to seek employment so far from home. His younger brother Leonard joined him in 1883 lured by the high wages available for driving horses in the Colorado lumber woods. The following newspaper article in the Woodstock Sentinel indicates that in 1887 Edwin married 'Wilmot E Sipprelle' (Wilmont Eldridge Siprell) from Somerville, NB who was teaching school in Redcliff, Colorado. Another article mentions that Edwin's wife "returned" to her parents home in Somerville NB from Gilman, Colorado in 1890. As no mention was made of her husband or children, it was assumed that they had separated or that he had died. This assumption was proven incorrect in 2003 when information regarding Edwin Thatcher Wolverton's descendants was provided by his great-grandchildren Ruth Linda Granat and Thatcher Edwin Wolverton, Ted Jr. of Colorado.

Vol 68 #1424 dated Nov 26, 1887. Letter 2 from E. W. Bower entitled 'Letter from Tourist'.

"After taking in all the places at Leadville, I took the train for Red Cliff some fifty miles distant. This is one of Colorado's mining camps. Engaging a pair of horses and a driver we attempt the ascent of the mountain, by a circuitous route with an ascent of several hundred feet and after a tedious upgrade of many miles we reach Camp Gilmor, one of the finest mining towns in Colorado. Here we find a number of New Brunswickers. One Edward Wolverton of N.B. had struck a rich treasure in the person of Miss Wilmot Sipprelle of Summerville (Carleton County). They had been there but a few months previous. This lady taught a day school and organized a Sabbath school.I intended visiting Aspen, another mining district, where my cousin G. W. Boyer of Florenceville and family reside. A gentleman who drives a stage to this place informed me that he knew Boyer, who is doing a thriving business cutting lumber and sawing it for building and mining purposes with a portable saw mill. He has spent several years in Kansas where he made a large farm, but having to endure disadvantages on account of distance from a railroad, has moved to Aspen. Now that the railroad has reached his property in the first named place, he will return. His family and son-in-law moved to Aspen this season. On account of having to stage it for fifty miles, I had to abandon my intended visit to Aspen." (Note: The letter from E. W. Bower contains a number of errors but is printed here the way it appeared in the Carleton Sentinel newspaper. Camp Gilmor should read Camp Gilman. Edward Wolverton should read Edwin Wolverton and Wilmot Sipprelle (Wilmont Siprell) was from Somerville, NB not Summerville.)

COLORADO LETTER

"MESSRS. EDITORS, - Having just received the latest issue of the SENTINEL, and enjoyed the breath of home, which it always brings, the thought came that perhaps your readers might be interested or amused by a page from our mountain life.

Gilman, the little town in which we are living, is situated on a point of land, which terminates in a bluff, which rises perpendicularly from the Eagle River to a height of 1,000 feet. Winding through the canon [canyon] beside the river is the D. & R. G. which carries away the mineral unearthed here, and brings in the needed supplies.

But I will leave those things for some other correspondent, and confine myself to giving you description of a day's sport which I enjoyed recently with Mrs. Brown, of Kilburn, N.B. who is visiting here at present.

Accompanied by some friends, we left home at 8 a. m. fully equipped with rods, flies, etc., to deal death to the tinny [tiny] tribes which inhabit the mountain streams. At this time in the morning it is delightfully cool here, and the air is so pure and exhilarating that one feels that a tramp over the hills is very enjoyable indeed. The views that lay before us are beyond my power to portray to you in any words; we followed the road over the hills and below us, far beneath, rushed on the river, leaping over huge boulders, charging against impregnable cliffs, then whirling, eddying, flying onward again, while on either side, as far as can be seen, rise the mountains, peak above peak, each one more distant than the other; the lower ones clothed in rich green verdure, with flowers of many forms and colors; the higher ones grim, gray and awful in their sublimity.

One place, which we passed, called "The Hole in the Rock," deserved to be noticed for a moment, so we stop to admire it. This is a strange looking place; several hundred feet back from the river rises an immense boulder resting on a very small base, and shaped very much as the famous balance rock, of which you have no doubt seen many views; through the centre of the upper part of this rock is a large hole, large enough for eight persons to stand in and look down to the depths below; above, the hill slopes gradually so that one can easily walk into it; all around the exterior of this strange opening we could plainly see the action of water at some time and could arrive at no conclusion other than that water had flown through it at some remote period and worn it to its present shape.

The Wolverson Family - New Brunswick Connection

But the sun is rising higher and we must hasten as we have considerable hills to descend before we reach Astor Park, where the road will be less difficult; here we joint our rods, get everything arranged for action, and after crossing the park, try our arts to entangle the wary trout. These beautiful creatures in their shimmering coats spotted so beautifully, are not very easily taken; however Mrs. Brown saved the honor of old N. B. by catching several, which with others, served us for a most delicious meal, while I-----well, succeeded in breaking a rod."

(Note: Wilmotte E Sipperel should read Wilmont E Siprell. The 'Shaw' connection is through both of Wilmont's parents who were first cousins. Wilford Siprell's mother Lavina Shaw and Lydia Magee's mother Susan Shaw were sisters.)

The following articles (provided by Ruth Linda Granat and Thatcher Edwin Wolverson, Ted Jr. in July 2003) indicate that Edwin was from Maine rather than NB. Although Edwin grew up in River de Chute, Carleton Co., NB he was probably born in Deer Isle, ME where his mother's parents lived.

THE CURSE OF THE OLD SPANISH MINE By Barbara Ekker

For generations, legends have existed to the effect that the Spaniards obtained gold in the Henry Mountains more than 300 years ago, "E. T. Wolverton wrote in 1928 in his manuscript, "Legend, Traditions and Early History of the Henry Mountains." Wolverton had some firsthand experience with just such a legend. He came to Green River, Utah, in 1900. He was following his profession of miner and civil engineer. Before his arrival, he worked as a boatman on the Penobscot River in Maine.

Before his interests in the Spanish gold of the Henry Mountains was aroused, he obtained a ranch 25 miles below Green River in Emery County. Wolverton first visited the Henry Mountains in 1900, when he found abandoned camps and old miners hanging on, making lots of claims but doing little or no work in them. The area of the mountains he was most interested in was plastered with location notices. He patiently waited until 1912 to re-evaluate the property, but the location notices were still valid. Finally, late in 1915 the property he wanted was found to be free from claims, so early the next year he made his own locations and claims.

Wolverton had heard the many stories about the old Spanish workings and was determined to prospect the country himself. He'd listened to an Indian boy - who'd been hired to herd cattle during the summer near Pipe Springs on the southwest slopes of Mount Pennel - remark, "Plenty gold up there." The Indian related that his people had told him of these workings. When asked if he'd take a white man to these gold claims, he responded with a dramatic "no." Pressed for his reason, the Indian offered the following statement (retold in Wolverton's book):

"Many, many years ago the Spaniards dug gold out of the side of the mountain. Indians were employed to do hard work and treated shamefully. After laboring from dawn until dark, they were often beaten and kicked like dogs. One morning the surrounding hills were full of warriors. A terrible battle followed, and many Indians were killed, but at the end, all the Spaniards were destroyed, their shelters burned, and their workings carefully filled in. All signs obliterated. As the workings were being filled, the Indian medicine man placed a great curse on the place from which the gold had been taken. To whomever reopens these workings would come great calamity. His blood would turn to water, and even in youth, he would be as an old man. His squaws and papooses would die. And the earth would bring forth for him only poison weed instead of corn."

Wolverton also heard the story about some early prospectors who had located the Spanish mine. In 1868 a man named Burke had appeared at Ben Bowen's stage station at Desert Springs. Burke claimed he'd been prospecting in the Henrys and that the Indians ran off his stock and took drastic measures to get him out of their country. He showed some ore and convinced Bowen of a "Spanish Mine" discovery. Bowen was convinced and sold his stage station. At Minersville the two men hired a man named Blackburn as a guide and started back to Burke's original diggings in the Henrys. They camped their first night on the mountain at Corral Creek. Burke took Bowen directly to his find, which proved to be the outcropping of a rich gold-bearing ledge. They took about 400 pounds of quartz samples from the surface. Bowen, Burke and Blackburn, deciding to go back to Minersville for mining tools, powder and supplies, carefully covered their workings and buried their ore picks at the base of a nearby tree. They had come into the country around the north and east slopes of the Henrys. In returning, they took a different route, and went through the pass between Mount Pennel and Mount Ellen, headed west and north across the desert for Pleasant Creek on the east slopes of Boulder Mountain. From Penn-Allen Pass the desert had appeared smooth, but upon reaching it, they found deep canyons and steep escarpments. They became bewildered about directions and suffered intensely from thirst. Bowen and Burke drank from a stagnant pool of water despite protests from Blackburn. Within hours, they were desperately ill. They staggered to the ranch at Pleasant Creek and received care. After recuperation, they went to Salt Lake City to have their ore assayed and learned the ore was worth $6,000 a ton, many times more gold than was necessary to start a profitable mine.

But Bowen again became ill and was attended by a physician who advised him not to return to their mining venture. Days later he returned to Minersville with Burke and objected to continuing the mining venture. He felt their "find" was so isolated that a decent wagon road could not be built to haul the ore out. He also felt he'd tempted fate by not heeding the medicine man's curse. But his partners wouldn't listen and all three began planning their return to the Henrys. They left Minersville with a splendid outfit and enough funds to meet expenses. But while waiting at the town of Bicknell for Blackburn to arrange his affairs, Bowen again became ill and died during the night. Four days later, Burke died of undetermined causes. Blackburn was the only one then knowing the location of the gold, and he was leery about returning after the sudden deaths of his partners. But years later, Blackburn decided it was mere superstition, and went back into the Henrys alone. He was just making camp the first night when a rider brought news about a death in his family. In his story, Wolverton quoted Blackburn as saying "Sickness in my family and bad luck followed me for the next 30 years." In 1921, while Wolverton was mining on his Rico claim in the Henrys, a party arrived at his cabin with the aging Blackburn. They'd brought Blackburn into the area to relocate the old Bowen-Burke diggings, but the altitude and poor health had caused him to collapse before reaching the old claim. His friends carried him to Wolverton's cabin for immediate care and rest.

The Wolverton Family - New Brunswick Connection

After he recovered, Blackburn left and never returned to the mountains.

Wolverton knew his Rico No. 1 and Rico No. 2 claims covered some of the ground once claimed by Bowen and Burke, so he began building cabins, trails and roads. Almost single-handed and with few tools, he built a mill. The large water wheel that furnished power to drive his equipment was built exclusively of wood hewed from pine logs cut on the nearby slope. His two sons, Norvelt [should be Norville] and Ted, were coal miners, and when their work slowed down, they'd help their father. Mrs. Wolverton, a down-east Yankee from Maine, like her husband, was soft-spoken, gracious and frail. Her stays at Camp Rico were limited to the warm summer months.

One day, when none of his family was at the camp, the elder Wolverton was thrown onto the horn of his saddle by a frightened horse and injured. He endured severe attacks from the injury until he was unable to leave his cabin. There were no neighbors for miles, but a young boy from Hanksville, Riter Ekker, decided to ride up to the mountains on the very day Wolverton was suffering. Ekker's dad had suggested to him, "You'd better ride up and see if Wolverton is OK." After a long ride, Ekker found Wolverton crawling toward a nearby creek, dragging a bucket by a rope from his mouth. Ekker took the old man to a nearby ranch for help, and eventually Wolverton was taken to Fruita to a Dr. Orr, who performed needed surgery. Though Wolverton survived the medical treatment, he died from pneumonia a few days later.

Was the Indian curse as potent and far reaching as Wolverton had learned over the years? Possibly. None of the men ever connected with the old Spanish mine ever derived anything from it except hardship, toil and suffering. [Source: Grand Junction Daily Sentinel, Colorado - June 12, 1983.]

E. T. WOLVERTON FUNERAL TODAY IN GREEN RIVER

The funeral of E. T. Wolverton is being held this afternoon in Green River, Utah and burial will be in the Elgin cemetery there beside a brother-in-law, who passed away some years ago. Mr. Wolverton passed away Tuesday morning in the Fruita hospital of pneumonia developed following an operation performed Sunday morning. He had been confined to the hospital for three weeks preceding the operation. He had been in Fruita only a short time.

The Wolverton Family - New Brunswick Connection

Edwin Thatcher Wolverton was born on February 4, 1862 and he passed away at the age of 68 years. He had been a mining man the greater part of his life and had lived in Leadville, Breckenridge and other Colorado towns previous to his removal to Utah where he had engaged in mining in the Henry mountains for the past seven years of the 30 years he had made his home there. Surviving him are his widow who makes her home in Tulsa, Oklahoma with a sister (should read daughter), and two sons, Thatcher Wolverton of Segoe, Utah and Norville Wolverton of Palisade, Colorado.

WOLVERTON MILL

Shortly after the turn of the century, Edwin Thatcher Wolverton came to Utah to look for gold in the Henry Mountains. The area was covered by previous claims so he returned in 1912. For 12 years he searched for the Spanish Bowen mine and filed several claims. He built a 20 foot water wheel by hand on Mt. Pennel. He also built a shed to house the wheel, a tool house and dwellings. This wheel was used to furnish the power to run the mill and to crush ore which was hauled by sleds pulled by donkeys. His two sons helped him before the mill was abandoned in 1929. Today, the Bureau of Land Management has the wheel. It was carried by helicopter to Hanksville where it was reconstructed under a Historic Preservation Project. The Wolverton Mill is a unique creation because it combines the functions of wood cutting and ore crushing. The restored mill can be found in the southwest corner of Hanksville, Utah behind the BLM office.

Notes for Leonard Oscar Wolverton:

Leonard went to Colorado in 1883 when he was 18 years old to work in the lumber woods cutting mining props. He returned home in 1890 and bought a farm in Upper Knoxford, Carleton County, NB. The 150 acre farm had a very small clearing. He cleared the land and built two large barns and a nine room house. In 1891 he married Mary Gallup of Upper Knoxford and they raised six children. A nearby farm of 100 acres, with house and barn, was purchased from his brother (Joseph Allison) in order to provide additional farm land for his two sons. However, only his youngest son Miles remained on the family farm. Leonard had a paralytic stroke at age 52 and later developed gangrene in his foot. Leonard died at age 62 and his wife Mary died one year later.

237. Miles Atwood⁸ Wolverton (Leonard Oscar⁷, Joseph⁶, Thomas Thatcher⁵ Woolverton, Joseph Barton⁴, Thomas³, Thomas², Charles W¹) was born 19 Aug 1903 in Upper Knoxford, Carleton Co., NB, and died 14 May 1950

in Upper Knoxford, Carleton Co., NB. He married Rispah Emma Smith 20 Aug 1930 in Nashwaak Village, York Co., NB, daughter of Warren Smith and Blanche Wiggin. She was born 25 May 1906 in Nashwaak Village, York Co., NB, and died 12 Mar 1996 in Woodstock, Carleton Co., NB.

Notes for Miles Atwood Wolverton:

Miles was born on the Upper Knoxford family farm and lived there his entire life. Potatoes were grown as the main cash crop and horses were used throughout his life to haul the farm equipment and work in the lumber woods. He was fond of horses and raised five of them from one brood mare. He was self educated as an electrician and auto mechanic. During a number of years the price of potatoes dropped below a dollar a barrel (165 lb.) which was below the cost of growing them. During these years he supplemented family income during winter months by working as an electrician in Perth Andover and Upper Kent. When public electricity was extended from Centreville to rural communities he also wired numerous farm buildings . Collecting payment for the electrical supplies and labour often stretched over a number of years. Although offered jobs as a full time electrician as well as an auto mechanic, he refused to leave the farm. He was determined to carry on the tradition of maintaining a family farm for future generations. Miles died at the age of 47 in 1950, and he never knew that six generations of Wolverton family farming had come to an end in NB.

More About Miles Atwood Wolverton:

Burial: Unknown, United Baptist Cemetery, Upper Knoxford, Carleton Co., NB

Notes for Rispah Emma Smith:

Rispah graduated in 1925 from the Provincial Normal School in Fredericton. She taught school in Durham Bridge, Pleasant Valley, Red Head, and Royalton, where she met and married Miles Wolverton of Knoxford. Following the death of Miles in 1950 at the age of forty seven, she continued to live on the Wolverton farm with her three children. After deciding to sell the farm to a Neighbour in 1956, she lived in Moncton, Saint John, Fredericton, Marysville and for 22 years in Woodstock, before her death at age eighty nine. Rispah was an active member of the Woodstock United Baptist Church and a Dominion Life Member of the Women's Missionary Society of Canada.
